

Why can't parents just do their job and prevent their kids from being subjected to whatever content they dislike?